

CSTA Awards Committee announces call for nominations for Excellence in Science Teaching for 2006-2007

The CSTA Awards Committee invites you to nominate a science teacher for the Excellence in Science Teaching Awards for 2006-2007.

You are invited to nominate a teacher whom you feel is an outstanding teacher of science.

Awards are given at each level for excellence in teaching of science. The candidate can be teaching science at the elementary, middle or secondary school level.

The honoree is feted at an awards banquet where they receive a plaque and an honorarium of $500.

An ideal candidate is a teacher who has not only demonstrated superior teaching of science in their classroom, but has contributed professionally by presenting workshops to colleagues and demonstrated personal growth by participating in conferences and workshops. Additionally, participation in extra-curricular activities (e.g., science club, science fair, invention conventions, etc.) and in the community would be a plus.

Nominations for candidates are open to public, parochial, private and independent schools.

If you have a candidate that you feel should be nominated for the CSTA Excellence in Science Teaching Award, please fill out the Nomination Form on the next page and send it to the Awards Committee. Self nomination is also acceptable to the Committee.
